

Estimated Historical Trade Routes of First Nations in Northwest Washington

Author: Henry Haro, 2016
Data Sources: WWU & ESRI, 2005 || USGS, 2013. Projection: NAD 1983 StatePlane Washington North FIPS 4601 (Meters)

First Nations Trade Routes

These routes, from Coastal Cities to Winthrop, are based off a collection of elevation and natural feature data, and visualized according to slope elevation and distance to fresh water sources. It is hypothesized that traders would want to take the easiest routes with little elevation gain and with the greatest amount of water sources to sustain them on their journey. Archaeological sites are likely to be found along these routes.